

Acts of kindness

Because of the coronavirus, we were posting small letters to all of the old people on our street who are over eighty because we were extremely worried about them. After we had posted them, we received phone calls from old ladies saying that we had made their day and that they were extremely worried.

